WILL THEY REBEL?

Firemen Adverse to Working with Non-Union Switchmen and Trainmen.

A Committee of Western Lodges Comes On to Present Their Demands.

Webb Will Receive Powderly, but Says There's Nothing to Arbitrate.

Congestion of Freight Traffic and a Scarcity of Local Passenger Trains.

ALBANY, Aug. 15.—Two carloads of firemen, representing a number of lodges throughout Western New York, passed through the city this morning bound for New York.

One of their number told THE EVENING WORLD correspondent that they proposed having a conference with the Central railroad officials, in order to make formal announcement of their determination not to work on the road with non-union switchmen and trainmen.

If some concession is not granted by the company, the firemen say, according to this EVENING WORLD informant, that they will go out by Sunday.

The Boston and Albany Railroad refused to handle some Central freight this morning. Had they taken it the trainmen and switchmen would have gone on strike immediately.

A casualty occurred at the West Albany freight yard early this morning, resulting in the instant death of two Pinkerton detectives, Alfred Ludington and George D. Rosner.

They were working among the freight cars when a train was backed upon them. Both men were caught between the bumpers and horribly crushed.

The accident created great excitement and gave rise to a report of serious trouble between the Pinkertons and the strikers.

A big crowd has been loitering about the yards all the morning, but no disturbances have occurred.

Two obstinate facts remain in the path of the New York Central's officers, and are pointed to by the Knights as evidence that the strike is not ineffectual.

One is that since the strike was ordered little or no west-bound freight has been received by the Central, and the other is that up to this moment a large number of local passenger trains scheduled for the accommodation of residents above the Harlem bridge are not run.

These facts are admitted by the company's only difference between the company's statement and that of the Knights being, in the latter case that Mr. Webb says only twenty-five Harlem local passenger trains are abandoned while Master Workman Lee insists that seventy-three trains are not run.

When asked as to the freight difficulty, Mr. Webb admitted that the yards are still in a state of congestion.

In a hopeful way he continued: "We can't work more than so many men in each yard. There are in each yard north-bound and south-bound cars to be assembled and placed on the proper tracks, and there is a great deal of miscellaneous switching work to be done. But we are getting matters in shape magnificently, and we hope to have our Sixty-fifth street yard here in perfect order by this evening."

All the K. of L. men this morning were looking forward to the arrival in this city of the General Executive Board, and they claim that the strike will be either settled on favorable terms or continued aggressively by that body.

It has been known for several days that the Board intended passing upon the state of affairs and that official action would be taken by it.

Official advice from Detroit shows that the Board has decided to take the control of the strike out of the hands of District Assembly No. 216, and has started for this city to endeavor to compel Vice-President Webb to arbitrate the troubles.

The members of the Board are General Master Workman Powderly, J. J. Holland, John Devlin and General Secretary and Treasurer John W. Hayes, and they are expected to arrive in this city at 9 o'clock this afternoon.

An EVENING WORLD reporter this morning was told by an official of the order that Master Workman Powderly with his associates will call upon Vice-President Webb and ask for a settlement of the troubles by arbitration. If the company refuse to agree to arbitration the Knights say the strike will be extended by the Executive Board and will include all the Vanderbilt lines to Chicago and Denver and a general tie-up on the Union Pacific, which is under important traffic agreements with the New York Central.

When asked this morning whether he could receive the General Executive Board, Vice-President Webb said: "Certainly. Every gentleman who comes into my office is continuously received. My views on the question of arbitrating the matter are already known. There is nothing to arbitrate."

Master Workman Lee was considerably worried this morning over the mysterious disappearance of several letters and telegrams that were sent to his state headquarters from members of the Executive Board in Detroit. He told an EVENING WORLD reporter that he understood that communications were forwarded to him, but so far he had not received them.

"I had been waiting to hear from Detroit," he said, "for the past two days, as Mr. Holland promised he would communicate with me. I have received none of the forwarded communications, and I cannot account for their disappearance. The first information I got from the Executive Board was late last night, announcing that they had started for this city."

"The fact of the matter," added Mr. Lee, "is that we have been waiting to hear from the General Board and they have been waiting to hear from us. Now that they are coming here the handling of the strike will be with them."

"I want to say this," he continued, "that I am a paper that gives an impartial account of an occurrence. THE EVENING WORLD has shown itself to be a newspaper, and the impartial accounts it has printed of this strike have commanded the respect and admiration of all of us."

Speaking of the strike, Mr. Lee said: "The public has been considerably misinformed about the condition of the men on the Central road. There are thousands of workmen in the employ of that corporation, and many of them are not strikers who are receiving less than one dollar a day. The Company's policy always has been the payment of a lower rate of wages. In this trouble they have given out statements to the effect that they have completely recovered from the shock, and that any number of strikers are returning to work. The road is in bad shape and unless the men go back they cannot recover for six months. The road is being managed by a few men, and the traveling public is running great risks at the hands of these few men."

"The Company is losing a great deal of money by being unable to accept freight, and the immense volume of this business which went to the Central before the strike has reverted to the Pennsylvania, Erie and other roads. The freight losses on both the Company's side, though they are loathe to admit that that service is practically wrecked."

Webb's ultimatum. The official ultimatum of Vice-President Webb was read up in the office of every Division Superintendent on the line of the New York Central road this morning.

A large number of men who have been out on strike are making application at different points on the road for reinstatement, the application being made by the strikers on the basis of promises of good behavior in the future.

That many of them are good employees, having been in times past faithful servants of the Company, and many of them have been into this difficulty through intimidation, misrepresentation or ignorance, I have given the matter very careful consideration, and I have decided as follows:

"Each case shall be considered separately on its merits, and where the party has been a satisfactory and faithful servant of the Company, and where the circumstances are such that it is in the interest of the Company to employ him, I will accept his application, and where the circumstances are such that it is in the interest of the Company to employ him, I will accept his application, and where the circumstances are such that it is in the interest of the Company to employ him, I will accept his application."

"Now you want to be careful and not talk with any reporters. I—these reports are not to be kept out of the strike. Fully fifty recruits were engaged, and in the gang with which the man went out there were twenty-seven. They were taken to a roundabout place near the Grand Central Depot, where he dropped out of the ranks. The destination of this company was West Albany."

"They were not sent out to kill people," he said, "but if your lives are in danger you know what to do. You must not go out expecting a picnic, because the men who have been recruited are not to be taken in by a few of the strikers. You'll hardly be able to get boarding houses, but we'll feed you and take care of you. Obey the orders of your captain and you'll get your money."

"One of the men engaged yesterday was formerly 'bouncer' in a bar, and the whole crowd looked as though they wouldn't hesitate at any undertaking."

COMPTROLLER MYERS ILL. His Absence Prevents Consideration of East River Park To-day.

COMPTROLLER MYERS is ill in bed at Arverne-by-the-Sea. His ailment is not considered of a serious nature, and he is expected to be at his desk in the Finance Department on Monday.

In his absence all the duties of the office have devolved on Deputy Comptroller Storer, who was too busy to attend a meeting of the Finance Department intended to be held today to provide for the holding of the fair.

It is probable that the meeting will be held Monday or Tuesday of next week, when the Mayor will have returned from his vacation, and the Finance Department will be able to provide the funds necessary to defray the expense of holding the fair.

Two of the distinguished guests at the Scarborough, Long Branch, are John Keenan and William Moloney, late of Montreal. These gentlemen are almost inseparable companions, and can be seen in one of the billiard rooms, where they are enjoying a pleasant evening, smoking fragrant Havana cigars and conversing quietly in their favorite language, which they acquired during their enforced exile from New York.
